Burgos, 29th—The Court has condemned the Northern Railway to deposit a million of pesetas to meet the damages appealed for in consequence of an accident on the line near this city some months ago.

These high damages are due to the fact that two British subjects and several people of high social standing were injured in the accident.

Paris, 29th—The Company formed to complete the Panama Canal agrees to take over all the personnel and works as they stand, but refuses to retain the superior officials of the old Company, whose bad management led to such disastrous results for the original shareholders.

Buda-Pesth, 29th—Five fresh cases of cholera and one death here. In spite of the fall in the temperature it is feared that the filthy state of the Jewish quarters will cause the epidemic to spread.

Vienna, 29th—The police think that Smeredy, the murderer of Carolina Metz and others, was Jack the Ripper, the Whitechapel fiend.

Rome, 29th—The papers of to-day say that the arrest of the bandits in Sicily was cleverly planned on information supplied by the landed proprietors who were seized for ransom but immediately rescued by the activity of the police.

Hamburg, 29th—The Municipality proposes a window tax to relieve the distress caused by the epidemic. Although the latter is still decreasing, everything in the city is paralyzed.

Some time must elapse before the population can recover from the severe infliction.

Madrid, 29th—The King and Queen of Portugal will arrive here on the 25th prox.

Rome, 29th—The Italians in Brazil have sent a delegation to the Minister of Foreign Affairs complaining of the treatment they receive from the authorities there, and demanding an indemnity for their losses at Santos and San Pablo.

Minister Brin received the delegates affably, and promised to do everything possible for them.

Vienna, 29th—Kossuth has asked that the original Pragmatic Sanction which establishes the relations between Austria and Hungary be deposited in the Hungarian archives. It will be difficult to grant this.

Berlin, 29th—It is feared that the proposed tax on beer will be resisted and give rise to disturbances.

The papers are resolutely opposed to the military reforms about to be proposed to the Reichstag, and say that the increased expenditure should rather be devoted to improving the present system.

The Social Democrats have won the Municipal elections.

This is a further proof of the progress of Socialism, and causes alarm amongst the authorities and higher social classes.

(Per Havas Agency.)

Rome, 29th—The authorities are still hunting down the banditti. Forty-two more of them have been arrested in Syracuse.

The Italian press applauds the energy of the Sicilian police, and advises Government to act in the same style in the other provinces against the bandits, to secure the people against this social plague.

Brussels, 29th—It has been definitely settled that an Exhibition shall be held in Antwerp about the middle of 1895.

Buda-Pesth, 29th (evening)—Cholera has broken out here, and some cases are reported in the past few days.

Paris, 29th (evening)—Cholera is rapidly decreasing in all the European countries where it has appeared.

(To the "Prensa".)

Dublin, 28th.—The Parnellite paper Independent applauds the intention of Government to name a Royal Commission to enquire into the working of the Evicted Tenants' Bankruptcy Act. The Freeman also gives Government credit for seeking to do justice to evicted tenants.

London, 28th.—The British Consul at Mozambique telegraphs the loss of the Portuguese vessel with the exploring expedition on board. Seven of the crew were drowned.

The candidateship of the High Sheriff, Mr. Stuart Knill, a Roman Catholic, for the post of Lord Mayor of this city gives rise to much discussion. His opponents say that he will be unable to fulfil the duties of his office that compel him to attend Anglican religious services and keep an Anglican chaplain.

Mr. Knill answers that if elected Lord Mayor he will keep an Anglican chaplain for public purposes, while retaining his own Catholic private chaplain; and that he will name some one to represent him at Anglican ceremonies. This frank declaration has won much approval, and nearly all the papers are in favour of his election.

Paris, 28th.—Turkey is negotiating another loan of six millions sterling to rebuild the forts on the Bosphorus.

IMPUNITY FOR CRIME.

The River Plate republics offer so much impunity for crime that it is not surprising to find some of the most daring assassins come hither from Europe. Of this class was the notorious Smeridis, a Hungarian, who committed a number of crimes in Buenos Ayres, and who has just ended his days by suicide in an Austrian prison.

In the month of July 1876 a great sensation was caused in our city by the murder of an unfortunate woman named Caroline Metz, in her house in Calle Corrientes, between 25 de Mayo and Reconquista. She was known to possess valuable jewellery, which was missing, and her servant minutely described the assassin, Smeridis, who was already well-known to the police for robberies of jewellery and innumerable frauds. Nearly a year elapsed before anything was heard of him; he had meantime fallen into the hands of the Brazilian police for other crimes. It was only after diplomatic interference that the Brazilian Government consented to give him up, on the understanding that the Argentine authorities would punish him for the murder in question.

On the voyage from Rio Janeiro he confessed to the murder of Caroline Metz and many other crimes, in a certain spirit of bravado. One afternoon he leaped overboard, and (we regret to say) was rescued by the officials. He was, on arrival, sent to the Penitentiary, where he again confessed the murder and boasted that (as murderers were not punished here) he should soon be again at large, and start once more as a barber. He also proposed to publish his biography. The trial dragged on for some years, but the evidence of Carolina's servant was so conclusive, coupled with his own confession, that the Court found him guilty and sentenced him to a long term of confinement. Some years later he appealed for a new trial, and was acquitted. Returning to Europe he murdered a jeweller in Austria, and as criminals in that country are not so easily released as in South America he has now committed suicide. The Austrian jeweller would not have lost his life if the judges in Buenos Ayres had caused him to be executed. Thus it is that the impunity for crime leads to fresh crimes. We subjoin the following police-report taken from our files of August 1877:—

Don Manuel Rocha, late Chief of Police, published last year the following biography of this daring criminal, which will now be read with interest:—

B. Ayres, Aug. 28th 1876.

Respecting the murder of Carolina Metz on the 25th July, and the pursuit of the assassin I have the honor to submit a full report in 91 pages, besides 62 telegrams, all of which have proved fruitless.

The assassin is a man of superior ability and has thus been able to elude pursuit. He has gone at times under different names, such as Luis Henrique, Alexis Smeridis, Luis Temperley, Julio Someggi, and Carlos Pinto. My agents searched for him in all the coffee-houses, inns and houses of ill repute in town; also in the storm-conduits, water-works, islands of the Parana and the vessels in our port. I sent agents to Campana, Chivilcoy, Dolores, Tuyu, San Pedro, and 20 other camp towns. I telegraphed to Montevideo, Rosario, Cordoba, San Luis, Concordia, Fray Bentos, Rocha &c., but all in vain.

Among the documents which I now hand in are some letters of the assassin, including a document signed by the Austro-Hungarian Consul at Rio, and a letter directed to the assassin on July 28th two days after the murder. These documents and other proofs shew as follows—

Smeridis came out from Europe, enlisted for the Argentine army in Paraguay in 1865, and in May 1866 was sent to the military hospital with this description: "Luis Smeredy, Hungarian, unmarried, aged 25, Roman Catholic." He deserted on September 17th of same year.

In 1867 he was employed in the barber's shop next to Congress Hall, Plaza 25 de Mayo, and after some time robbed his master, taking the money and also a horse which he had hired. From Mercedes he wrote to the barber, begging his pardon and actually prevailed on the barber to obtain him a passage to Europe.

Smeridis went on board, robbed the captain's wife of some jewels, and landed two days before the vessel sailed. He was arrested soon after by the stable man whose horse he had stolen, and on trial was condemned to 6 months imprisonment. After his release he again turned barber, in Calle 25 de Mayo, and subsequently was hair-dresser at Saladillo and Chascomus. In the last-named place he borrowed a lot of jewels from a German jeweller, and disappeared.

In 1869 he was at Rosario, in the employ of Sr. Agiasora, and in June 1870 he robbed D. Lino Belbeyra at Mercedes, San Luis, but was released, after 10 months in prison, for want of evidence.

Early in 1873 he went partner with a hair-dresser named Bojorge at Victoria, Entre Rios; but was taken up in August for an attempt to murder Commander Benatti. By the friendship of Col. Carmelo Campos he obtained a place in the army of Lopez Jordan; and was taken prisoner at Talita, Dec. 8th 1873. When the Pampa was going to Martin Garcia he jumped overboard, abreast of Mesa de Artigas, and swam ashore.

For some months in 1874 he was at Casas Blancas, Salto, Fray Bentos and Mercedes, as a quack doctor. Returning to Salto he robbed Col. Campos of money and jewelry, and next turned up at Rosario.

On May 28th, 1874, he took out an Austrian Consular passport in Buenos Ayres, for Europe, but landed at Rio Janeyro, and there complained to the Austrian Consul that he had been robbed, but his story was not believed. He left Rio for Bahia on Aug. 31st, and on 11th Oct. presented himself to the police with a stab in his arm, saying he was a wealthy Argentine estanciero of Victoria, Entre Rios, and had been robbed and stabbed by three men and a woman, of a batch of Polish immigrants. It was supposed he had stabbed himself; but the Austrian Consul paid his passage to B. Ayres.

When going in a steamer up the Parana the captain landed him at Zarate, on suspicion of robbery. He fled to one of the islands, where he gave out that he was a doctor and a political refugee from B. Ayres.

In January 1875 he was a quack doctor at Junin, and robbed Dr. Caballero. Escaping to Rojas he there robbed Mr. Berdera, a merchant of Bragado. At this time he went under the name of Temperlye, but was previously known as Smeridis, Someggi, or Carlos Pinto.

Between Pergamino and San Nicolas he travelled with D. Bernardo Laprida and Mr. Andrew Pierce, and robbed both. Then he embarked for Rosario. In May 1875 he took out a second Austrian passport for Europe, and was afterwards seen at Milan.

Returning to Buenos Ayres he put up at the Hotel Provence on December 30th, 1875; and passing through Chascomus en route for Tuyu he stayed some time at the latter place, robbing the Justice of Peace and swindling the English doctor of the locality for the amount of his hotel bill.

At the end of January 1876 he appeared at Rocha, Banda Oriental, as a hair-dresser, and was engaged to be married. He left, apparently for Montevideo to obtain proofs that he was unmarried, but came over to Buenos Ayres, and went on to Dolores where he robbed the hotel-keeper. Returning afterwards to Rocha he said he could not get the necessary documents: at the same time he got a key made from a wax impression, to rob the jeweller's next door.

On July 1st 1876 he put up at Hotel Provence, and left on the 6th for Rojas, appearing two days later at Salto, where he said he had been robbed in the hotel of that town which he left without paying his bill. Returning to Buenos Ayres on July 11th he stayed at the Provence Hotel till the 16th when he said he had robbed, and complained to the police. He left on the 18th without paying his bill.

It is not known what became of him for 4 days, but on the 22nd he took up quarters at the Hotel Roma, where he remained until the night of the murder of Carolina Metz, 3 days later, when he finally disappeared.

Manuel Rocha.

YESTERDAY'S FIRE.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning many residents in Palermo were suddenly awakened by the trumpet of the Fire-Brigade, and the noise of the fire-engines rolling over the pavement. Some people got up and followed to the scene of disaster, Messrs. Marenco and Co's. wine deposit in Calle Serrano, between Segunda Paraguay and Soler. The immense column of smoke and the lurid flames which leaped towards the sky presented a fantastic sight. When the Fire-Brigade arrived on the scene, the flames held complete possession of the vast deposit. Colonel Calaza, commander of the Brigade, did his utmost to master the fire, but in vain—there was no water to be had! Every effort was made to procure water. It was a useless task, and the work of destruction was consummated by the devouring flames, while the Fire Brigade, for want of water, had, we may say, to look on with their arms crossed. Towards seven o'clock water was obtained in small quantities from a distance of 1,150 yards, but of course at that hour it was impossible to practically oppose the progress of the fire. According as the flames advanced barrels and bottles of wine burst with a loud report and the generous liquid flooded the street. The heat was tremendous. The disaster is only equalled by the Catalinas fire which took place some years ago. Mr. Marenco estimates his losses as follows—

8,000 barrels of wine....	1,500,000
Building................	400,000
Pipes of wine...........	50,000
Gas-engines	5,400
Pumps	42,000
40,000 dozen bottles	120,000
20,000 cases of wine......	200,000
Sundries	187,000
Total..........	2,504,900

The business was insured in the Transatlantic, B. Ayres and Royal for $900,000.

PROVINCIAL NEWS.

Our provincial contemporaries were singularly dull yesterday, although we expect that in a few days they will be more lively, for we note that there is a deal of political excitement in Jujuy and also in Corrientes, where the authorities have taken extraordinary precautions. Cordoba is at present the scene of great activity. Hotel keepers there are making a fortune, as the influx of visitors, anxious to assist at the great ceremony to come off to-morrow, is something enormous. The arrival of the Governor of Santa Fé with two or three score of senators, deputies and other functionaries, besides a regiment of volunteers, appears to have caused quite a sensation. H. E. had taken the trouble of having his party accompanied by the police-band, which struck up at every station and made many people think that an expedition to frighten the locusts was passing.

In spite of the peaceful tendencies of the majority of the inhabitants of Concordia, a certain bellicose clique has won the day, and the town now has a regiment of volunteers, armed and disciplined. Other towns will no doubt follow suit, and half the country will be practically under arms. We fail to understand all this military enthusiasm.

A letter from Ramallo states that the active commissary of that district, Mr. Barnes, disguised himself as a peon the other day and went about the islands. In his humble capacity, he found out the haunts of certain marauders who had been stealing cattle on a large scale. Having obtained the information he required, he went back to Ramallo, and made all his operations for pouncing on the marauders, an operation which he carried out with the greatest success. The thieves were in the habit of killing and skinning the animals they stole. The police discovered a number of "marks," which the thieves evidently used for the purpose of preventing people from recognizing the stolen cattle. Mr. Barnes deserves a gold medal for his successful as well as novel expedition.

SAFETY AGAINST CHOLERA.

(From the "Daily Chronicle.")

Dr. Daremberg, whose anti-cholera lemonade has been so widely copied from our columns, has now given us in a handy little volume a great deal of valuable information about the epidemic with which we are supposed to be threatened. His object, he says, is to open the eyes of mayors and municipal authorities generally to the anti-hygienic horrors in the midst of which we live without protesting, and also to teach the welcome lesson that a cleanly person never takes cholera. And to be cleanly according to the laws of a rational hygiene is, he adds, very easy.

As one of the first conclusions of his studies of the great cholera epidemics, the author declares that it is by no means necessary to have been in a place where cholera has existed to get it. For instance, a whole Spanish province was infected from two washerwomen who had cleansed the linen from a lazzaretto where cholera patients had been received. And a Yorkshireman was struck down from having touched the bonnet of his aunt who had died of cholera ten months before, the said bonnet having lain in a drawer since her death. Hence the supreme necessity of preventing the importation of linen and rags, since these substances are peculiarly adapted to preserve the cholera germs for long periods. When a centre of choleraic infection once exists, the malady is ceaselessly revived by the germs existing in choleraic evacuations and all the objects which have been soiled by these. In every case where the same closets have been used in prisons, hospitals, and shelters by cholera patients and other persons, it has been observed that the disease has spread throughout the entire staff. And it is noteworthy that the diarrhœa which precedes the attack of cholera proper is equally contagious with the disease itself.

It would hardly be appropriate for us to follow here Dr. Daremberg in his descriptions of the symptoms of cholera. These belong rather to the columns of a purely medical journal. We may observe, however, that it is highly desirable that every precaution should be taken to disinfect the evacuations of persons who appear to be suffering from mere diarrhœa, as this may always prove later to have been the precursor of cholera more or less acute, and was therefore highly infectious. For this reason it is essential that a system of regular desinfection of all public places of convenience should be arranged automatically, as a cholera patient would be almost sure to have recourse to one of them during his early attacks. Cholera is transmitted almost always by direct contact; it has been followed literally from bed to bed in more than one hospital. Therefore cholera patients should invariably be treated in special hospitals, where the severest measures of disinfection should be insisted upon.

Cholera is an infectious disease due to the "pullulation"—the excessive fertility—of a microbe which spreads violent poisons in the living organism, and this microbe was discovered by Dr. Koch in Egypt in 1883. It is shaped like a comma—hence its familiar name of "comma bacillus"—and to each microbe a long eyelash or tail is appended. Dr. Daremberg gives a picture of these tailed microbes, which a novice in stenography would certainly take for a page of shorthand written by an unsteady hand. Fortunately, Dr. Koch has found that the slightest trace of acid is fatal to the life of the comma bacillus, and as the normal process of digestion is acid, it follows that a healthy person is far less likely to take the cholera than a person whose digestion is lacking in essential acids. Accordingly, the cholera is always more to be feared by those who suffer in times of no epidemic from dyspepsia and its allied evils. To prove this, Dr. Koch weakened the digestion of pigs by introducing alkalies into their stomachs before feeding them with food containing the comma bacillus. It follows from this reasoning that the acidulation of water is the safest means of guarding against infection by its means. This is where the now famous citric acid lemonade comes in. And our readers may be amused to know that they owe the suggestion of it to a physician of the comfortable name of Dr. de Christmas. This acid preventive is the more important that an experimenter has found that cholera may be given to animals by germs which have been certainly killed by heat.

Quarantine, he remarks, is no security against cholera unless it is exercised with a completeness which would render towns liable to famine, and he declares that when ships are once in the Suez Canal it is too late to think of quarantine. The mouth of the Gulf of Suez, long before the Canal is reached, is the proper place for preventive measures of this kind. Dr. Daremberg gives extremely valuable instructions for the disinfecting procedure which in his opinion should replace the barbarous methods of quarantine, but as these belong to the duties of the municipality rather than to the individual, we may leave them, and pass on to the measures which each person may adopt for himself. It is obvious that if every individual did his simple duty in this matter there would be very little left for the State to do.

FACTS AS TO GLASGOW OFFICES

Mr. Editor—

The question of clerks' dress is not one of vital importance to the community, but the letter signed "Not a Glasgow Clerk" conveys an impression which is so far from being correct that I feel compelled in the name of my native city to state a few simple facts relevant to the case.

Your correspondent refers to having, when in Glasgow, seen clerks in "kilts," (please preserve the quotation marks, as the word is not English), and adds that "this (sic) is not a becoming costume in which to transact business." Leaving on one side the question as to whether the business or the costume is the important matter, if the clerks he saw wore no other garment than that which he calls „kilts," I entirely agree with him. Assuming, however, that he has sacrificed clearness for the sake of brevity, and has thus omitted all reference to the tunic, sporan, hose and silver-buckled shoes, I may mention what may not be known to those who have never visited Glasgow. So far, then, from the kilt being an unusual "costume," it is universal and compulsory in Glasgow among clerks, its use being in fact the subject of various municipal enactments: "trousers," as they are called in the rude language of the native, to whom "unmentionables" would be as unpronounceable as unintelligible, are the badge of the artisan. It is not generally known that every clerk in Glasgow must speak and write two languages: English, (if we may call it so from courtesy), in which he transacts business with the Englishman, and the inferior Sassenach in general; and Gaelic, in which he he transacts business with his maker (at considerable length) and with his fellow-man. With regard to customs in Glasgow offices, it is the invariable practice to offer a glass of whisky (better known as "usquebaugh") to every caller, unless he be an old-clothes man or a commercial traveller; and though the clerks are never allowed to "smoke" in any "native" office, a keg of this inspiring liquor is kept in the general office for their use. Any Glasgow man will confirm my statement that teetotalism is entirely confined to the lowest classes, and that any clerk who becomes one falls "de facto" into the artisan ranks. By the custom referred to the humidity of the climate is counteracted on the homœopathic principle, the only inconvenience being that on the one dry day of the month, (your correspondent must have been in Glasgow during the wrong fortnight), a thick fog sets in on account of the unusual evaporation: this day is spent by the inhabitants in church, and is known as the Fast-Day.

Thus any one of your intelligent readers will at once see that the "regulation waistcoat" would in Glasgow be applied to any clerk who proposed to adopt the "regulation suit" of black described by your correspondent: that is, presuming he had not already been lynched by his infuriated fellows.

The growing intercourse with London and with Buenos Ayres, and the occasional visits of such advocates of "common sense and truthfulness" as your correspondent, may be expected to do wonders during the coming century in educating and civilizing the Glasgow clerk. He may some day attain the height of flannel suits and freedom to dress as he likes, or even to smoke in the office. Meantime, he is interesting to all antiquarians as a relic of mediævalism or semi-barbarism.

Yours truly,
An Ex-Glasgow-Clerk.

POSTAL SERVICE.

Tucuman, Sept. 26th

Mr. Editor,

From your remarks at different times in Editor's Table you seem to think that the Postal service in this country is as good as it ought, or can be? I would like to know if you consider it good service in an important place like Tucuman, with its five different railways and half a hundred sugar mills close by, to have the certified letter office closed at 4 p.m? Yet such is the case.

However, the youth who refused my letters after that hour told me that I could send them by Villalonga for the same cost and up to any hour at night, therefore a private individual can give better service than our G.P.O. with all its advantages and privileges.

Yours &c.,
Chiriguana.

BURIAL REFORM.

St. John's Church,
September 28th

Mr. Editor—

With reference to Mr. George Tucker's letter in your issue of yesterday I crave space for the insertion in one of your columns of the article on the subject of Burial Reform which appeared this month in the St. John's Church Monthly Magazine, which, I should explain, was occasioned by Mr. Tucker's thoughtful and suggestive circular to the several church committees, but written before the publication in your newspaper last month of Mr. Tucker's circular.

I recognise the kind consideration which prompts Mr. Tucker to practically discourage the attendance of the clergy at the grave. I think, however, that all that is necessary in this matter is for the public to recognise the difficulties in which the clergy may be placed, and to accept in good faith the plea of inability that occasionally may have to be urged.

I hope, however, that the absence of the clergy will not encourage silent burial. That is too much like what Scripture contemptuously calls "the burial of an ass, drawn and cast forth beyond the gates" (Jer. XXII, 19.)

The instincts of pious heathendom were higher than that. Your classical readers will recall the tardy funeral rites of Polydorus.

Animamque sepulcro condimus, et magna supremum voce ciemus, or the earnest expostulation of Archytas: Quanquam festinas, non est mora longa, licebit injecto ter pulvere curras.

There is nothing peculiarly ministerial about this function. It is rather an instinct of pious humanity, and the burial of the dead is counted by the Church the last of the "Seven Corporal Works of Mercy." (Acts VIII, 2).

The very rubric directing the striking ceremony of casting earth upon the coffin, at last resting in mother earth, leaves the action to any bystander to perform: "while the earth shall be cast upon the body by some standing by;" as if to imply that to everyone in due course must come this necessary end of life. He that casts earth upon the dead body to-day may have earth cast upon his to-morrow. Hodie mihi, cras tibi.

So I hope that, whenever the clergy cannot perform these last rites for the dead, as Mr. Tucker suggests, some friend will discharge this debt of piety to humanity.

"Waft him, thou soft September breeze,
And gently lay him down."

I am, Sir,
faithfully yours
Pelham Ogle.

EXHIBITION OF CHICAGO.

Mr. Editor,—

I have pleasure in forwarding to you copy of a circular which I am distributing throughout the provinces and National territories with the object of inviting the co-operation of all those interested in mining and metallurgical operations in the Republic, at the same time indicating the manner in which the representation of these important industries should be conducted. Unfortunately it is late in the day to carry out all the necessary preparations, especially considering that a "memoria" in English has to be written upon the mines and metallurgy, as well as the preparation of a catalogue with classification of the minerals to be exhibited, together with a variety of other necessary details. Under all these circumstances, it is to be hoped that the mining proprietors and others engaged in metallurgical operations will give their willing and generous assistance, considering that a proper representation in Chicago, apart from awards, would tend in a high degree to call the attention of capitalists to these important and comparatively virgin National industries, inducing them to contribute towards their proper development, resulting in private as well as National benefit and progress.

Dear Sir,
Yours truly
H. D. Hoskold.
Director General of the National Dept. of Mines and Geology, commissioned with the official mining representation in the Exhibition of Chicago.

RAILWAY ITEMS.

The Chairman of the National Railway Board has applied to Government for authority to sell the new general railway map at the rate of $20 each, to cover the expenses of freight from Europe on 29 cases containing 800 maps and 22 stoves, as well as defray the cost of getting up the map.

The Local Board of the Transandine Railway have asked Government to consider as soon as possible the petition filed by them some time ago for the suspension of the works until better times. As the Procurator of the Treasury has declared the crisis to be a justifiable cause for suspending the works of an extensive railway, we presume the Government will grant this petition.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The only theme in the city last night was the affair between Senators del Pino and Figueroa in Congress. The latter was conversing with Deputy Ibañez, when Del Pino came up in a great state of excitement and said to him "You are a cad, a hound, a scoundrel; and you must fight me." Figueroa answered, "You are mad, I won't fight with you." Del Pino replied: "I'll send my seconds to you, and you will have to fight. All those present can testify that you are a coward." The affair arose from the hostility displayed by the Governor of Catamarca to the family of del Pino.

The fire yesterday morning was big enough for Chicago. Buenos Ayres has never seen such a thundering blaze before, and we hope never will again. The worst of it is that there is not a drop left of that nectar which editors most affect, viz Vealient Puntano. Full particulars in another colum.

H. M. Chargé d'Affaires has received the following telegram from the Governor of Jamaica, dated 22nd September:—

"Quarantine proclaimed here against all ports of the world, with the exception of the United Kingdom and British West Indies".

There was a crowd of notabilities in the Recoleta Cemetery yesterday afternoon at the removal of the remains of Dr. Rawson to the new mausoleum raised for them. An enormous number of handsome wreaths were placed on it. General Mitre was amongst the speakers.

There was a clerical error in Nauticus's interesting letter in our last issue, to wit: "the breakwater may be used" etc, should have been "the "backwater" may be used" etc.

Peuser's Guia for October was sent round yesterday. The latest improvement in it is a map of the city with the lines of the Nueva Buenos Ayres Limited.

As announced in our issue of Wednesday last, the opening of the Ladies' Lawn Tennis afternoon on the pictures que ground of the B. A. C. C. at Palermo was inaugurated with great success the same day. Numerous ladies graced the ground with their presence, and, amongst the members present, we noticed the president of the Club and several others of the committee. The courts were in excellent order, and several interesting sets were played; and, due to the kindness of Mrs. Tulloch in providing tea, the first of what we hope will lead to many gatherings of a similarly pleasant nature this season, was enjoyably spent.

The President-elect holds another reception to-night. When he mounts the state "potro" he will only be "at home" once a fortnight.

The Rector of the National College at Cordoba is still "non est inventus." He "cleared out" three weeks ago, in consequence of his docile and amiable pupils threatening to break every bone in his Rectorial body. What the worthy man's offence was we are utterly unable to say.

Beware! A family at Flores were near giving the undertaker a joint job the other day, through using table oil from a tin can.

One of those suicides that specially shock society took place in Calle Parana on Thursday, when a boy of 18 blew his brains out, without leaving the slightest explanation to his afflicted family.

A family in Rosario bought some "salame" to give themselves a treat at breakfast the other day. The wag who made it had seasoned it with smoked cigar ends, and would have thoroughly enjoyed the result of his trick had he been at the table.

Weather fine again in London yesterday. This announcement is getting rather monotonous, and we'd like a little hail, rain and snow for a change.

A letter from Venado Tuerto to the Capital of Rosario, says that the Locusts Extinction Committees are all a humbug; and that the only effective way to deal with the plague is to burn the "Saltona" and offer so much per kilo for the eggs, which would give employment to numbers of people.

That new loan which the Sick Man is trying to raise to make the Bosphorus a warm corner for Turkey's foes looks rather ugly for the peace of Europe. His Sublimity must have got a hint that the Big Scrimmage in Dame Europa's school is, possibly, not so far off.

Dear STANDARD

Can any of your numerous readers tell me what is the best record of a sailing ship across the North Atlantic.

Commander.

A telegram has been published in Montevideo from Don Eduarde Madero declaring that he has no connection at all with the Buceo port scheme recently mooted there. The proponent is one Sr. Mariano Espina, formerly partner in a shipping firm.

An attempt is to be made in Montevideo to have all business suspended for three days during the Columbus fete. How fond of idling and junketting our friends across the water are.

Dr. Bernardo de Irigoyen has changed his mind and abandoned his intended trip to the City of Doctors and the freest of free banking.

At their sitting on Wednesday the Wise Men of the City resolved to honour the memory of Columbus by founding a Free Hospital for the Poor, foundation stone to be laid on 12th prox, on which day there will be lots of flags and fireworks.

Don Peter Alegre does not feel at all like his own name, and the very cogent reason why is that he lost 15,000 shinplasters in the street on Wednesday and considers his chance of seeing them again as a decidedly poor one.

There is no house room in Cordoba for all the pilgrims that are pouring in, and the hotel and lodging-house keepers are in a seventh heaven, while their overcrowded guests seem to think that they have dropped into a diametrically opposite place. An express official train with sleeping cars and restaurant left La Plata on Wednesday for Cordoba with Minister Lastra and a large party. The tax-payers will have the honour of paying the piper.

When men are taken to prison they are treated like clothes in a laundry. They are washed and then ironed.

A glass eye is an optical delusion of no mean order.

Half a dozen more Santa Fé colonies were pounced on by the Locusts yesterday, and the Extinction Committees are beginning to think that Congress will have to vote a new Foreign Loan to enable them to tackle the insects properly, as the few thousand dollars already distributed are a mere drop of water in a spoon.

The drought in the South is very bad. At Tres Arroyos the cattle and sheep are mere bags of bones, and there is no meat either for breakfast, dinner or supper. The vegetarians down there are reduced to skeletons, as neither cabbage, turnips, nor thistles are to be had. Bad state of affairs this.

The cholera fuss about the passengers by the Italian steamer America has all ended in smoke. They all landed yesterday.

The Municipality is in a quandary as to some 200 forged "patentes" that are floating amongst the hawkers of the city. As both the genuine and forged licences are mere bits of brass, and no proper registration is kept, it will be impossible to get out of the mess till next year comes round.

If you want to get a reputation as a fine converser let people whom you meet talk all the time about themselves and their affairs without your putting in a word.

Mr. and Mrs. Everybody is speaking of the frightful smells, odours and stenches in every part of town, but especially near the docks. Nobody can actually trace them to any particular cause, except near the docks. Yesterday's higher temperature seemed to draw foul odours of all kinds from the ground.

The spring weather has inspired the tramway drivers with "nuevos brios" for tooting on their cow-horns. Standing at a street corner where lines cross the nuisance is very striking. We'd like to have the opinion of our esteemed correspondent Paradox on the abuse.

"Doctor, how do you live to be so old and rich?" "By writing prescriptions, but never taking them," was the witty and every "sensible" reply.

Artesian wells in the R. Plate proved a costly failure "with a magnificent future behind them" (like little Lord Ra dy) until the "Pierce Artesian Well Drilling Co." of New York took the field under Mr. Catlin's able direction. The latest triumph of this Company is a well for the Niding brewery over the water. It is the deepest in Banda Oriental. It was a very difficult piece of work, the rock being the hardest granite that Mr. Catlin has ever found, and terribly broken by crevices. The well is 141.50 metres deep, 8 inches in diameter, and was made in 39 days' drilling. One of the Company's large rigs, was used the same that made the 240 metre well at No Tengo. Another well in the Gran Destileria Oriental is down 130 metres on a contract for 300 metres. The water from these wells is excellent. It would be well if Artesian wells were more in vogue in the River Plate; in times of drought they would be the salvation of the estanciero and agriculturist.

The following attack on broad cloth and silk hats is from our democratic daily contemporary on the other side of Jordan:—"The silk hat and frock coat—apart from their hideousness and discomfort—are entirely unfitted to the R. Plate summer, and should be discarded in favor of straw hats or pith helmets and silk, linen or flannel jackets (not necessarily white.) For our part, we have a feeling of pity, not unmixed with contempt, when we see a broker, banker or business man sweltering uncomfortably in broad cloth and silk hat, when he might be comparatively cool and comfortable in linen and straw, if it were not for the dictates of a monstrous and unreasonable fashion."

We are indebted to the London correspondent of the R. P. Review for the following thoroughly nice and witty paragraph:—

"As Home Secretary Mr. Asquith, Q. C., must surely have good reason to thank the lucky star under which he was born. Forty, and a widower, he only entered Parliament in 1886, and is now a Cabinet Minister. Sinister rumours are abroad that he had acquired an awkward habit of asking for information as to the Home Rule policy of Mr. Gladstone, and that those enquiries were often a source of great inconvenience to the Member for Midlothian. Mr. Asquith, however, suddenly abandoned this line of action, and any questions which he may in future have to ask, he will, no doubt, Ask with the prudence and regard for the feelings of his leader which his own high position in the Government will demand.

Argentina may indulge in a mild chuckle at the following paragraph from the Investor's Guardian, which shows that there are other parts of the world where queer financial theories are held by public men as well as here:—

"What mad wags some of these tariffmongers are! In delivering his Budget statement at Brisbane on Thursday, Sir Thomas M'Ilwraith made some most laughable proposals in order to meet the deficit in revenue. "The Government proposed to reduce the salaries of members of parliament to £150 per annum, to double the succession duties, and to tax the receipts from the betting-machine." These are sufficiently comical to us in this country; but when he goes on to say that it is his intention to increase the Customs duties "with the view both of enhancing the revenue and of encouraging local industries," we can only pity the colonists in having such a Government."

We learn upon the authority of a North American exchange, that "Queen Victoria has taken to wearing the divided skirt, and the loyal cablegrams say that she rather enjoys them or it, or whatever you call them." The Chicago Mail editor remarks that he has always preferred something of the sort and is glad to have her Majesty's endorsement, and we are sure that our masculine readers will hesitate no longer but go in bravely, one and all, for the nocturnal equivalent in male attire, namely, the improved pyjama suits which can only, and most appositely, be obtained at "The English." When they are buying these, they can also replenish their stock of every description, all of the highest quality and at most moderate prices.

Dining in the "House of Commons" in bygone days

Sir Robert Peel, dined frequently at the House of Commons. The catering at that time was in the hands of Bellamy. There was a great difference, says a writer in 'Blackwood' between the dinner arrangements at that time an the present Then, members dined in the kitchen, and the dinner was cooked before them. There was little besides beefsteaks and mutton chops, but they were grilled at a roaring fire, and never were mutton chops better served. Now, there is elaborate menu of entrees and joints; but the change is not for the better, and the old members regret the simple cuisine of forty years since.

What wo ld they have thought of the new innovation of ladies dining within the sacred precincts? Never was change greater than this, except in the smoking arrangements. Formerly, the only place for smoking was Gossett's room. Captain Gossett was Sergeant-at-Arms, and no one more popular ever filled the post. He was given two rooms, and one of these he invited his friends to smoke in. There were the pleasant reunions. Within these walls no party feeling entered. Each of the invited brought his own cigars and whisky—that is, all who frequently enjoyed this society used to send a present of whisky and there was no light consumption of Usher's Old vatted Glenlivet and poteen.

On the occasion Mr. Gladstone was asked what be imagined was the consumption during the session. He put it at 3500 bottles, and he was right within half a dozen. I very much question whether the new smoking rooms ever will see such a genial society as the small retreat where the walls were covered with photographs of the visitors, and where the pleasant talk until "Who goes home?" was heard, was only interrupted by the division bell.

ON 'CHANGE.

Thursday, September 29th 1892.

The settlement began to-day with a very brisk demand for gold, but the better all round feeling prevailed and the premium fell in spite of the heavy requirements. About twenty two thousand ounces changed hands at the first ring; the price opened at $53.30, rose to $53.40, fell again and closed at $53.20, say 226.88% premium. Four hundred sovereigns were sold in one lot at $16.55, say 228.36% premium, but the price was nominal.

Patriotic Bonds were brisk, but prices were a shade weaker than yesterday; about one hundred and fifty thousand changed hands, opening at 74.40 and closing at 74.20 for cash and 74.40 for to-morrow; the rate for October closed at 73.20. Internal Bonds were very weak and closed at 67.30.

Catalinas shares remained steady. About six thousand shares were sold, opening weak at 10.50, rising steadily, and closing at 10.80. One of the causes of the headlong fall in this stock since Monday is the decree of the Government whereby the Cadret land concession of 50,000 square metres of ground at the docks is cancelled. It is stated that the Catalinas Company bought this concession from the concessionaires in the days of boom at the rate of $30 more or less per square metre, payable partly in shares and partly in cash. The concession now falls to the ground and the company is left in the lurch or must claim damages at law.

Spanish Bank shares were steady at 107 and French Bank shares at 44 gold. La Plata Cedulas were very firm at 30½.

Exchange remained firm at yesterday's rates. A very large business was reported done in francs at 5.04, but the rate was not maintained. Discounts continued easy.

The National Department of Engineers has applied to the Minister of the Interior for funds to make surveys and studies for the improvement of the Santa Fé harbor. It appears that the river has carried away considerable parts of the embankment of that port.

Respecting the news published yesterday about the Curumalan Company we fell into an error. The four leagues affected by the decree have nothing to do with the London Bondholders, being a purchase made by Mr. Casey from Goverment to build a town at Sauce Corto. The Provincial Government has ordered the sale of this land, and the affair is apparently not of very great importance to anybody.

The auction of the great Mar del Plata firm, called La Marrucha, attracted crowds of bidders; bankers, merchants and estancieros all were there. The cocks and hens, all prize birds, sold at fabulous prices, as high as $15 m/n paid for a Spanish duck. The young cows sold from 500 to 600 dollars and the bull calves from 300 to 500. Messrs. Collet and Llambi's mart looked to great advantage to-day; it is one of the finest and best fitted of auction marts in town and with two entrances, one in Calle Cangallo and the other in Calle San Martin.

Mr. John Sewell, the popular manager of the Curamalan estate, leaves to-night for that far-famed property. He is accompanied by Mr. Welby, British Chargé, Mr. Pearson and others who form a party of excursionists to the Mountains.

The following sales of maize are reported: 6000 bags to be delivered in the Rio Santiago at $6.20. In the Once, for local consumption, a few lots at 6.30 and 6.40 and in the Central 6.45. Messrs

Bemberg & Co. have shipped 14,034 bags by the steamer "James Wishart", for Europe. Wheat continues firm. In the Once 345 bags tuzela were sold at $9.60; 840 do. Francés, and tuzela at $9.50; 71 do saldomé at $9.80; 79 do barletta inferior et $7.50 and 400 do. superior at $9.50. The barque Addie Morell sailed from Rosario for Boston with 30,000 hides, 175 bales of wool and other produce The barque Sebastiana is loading jerked beef at the saladero of San Javier. A few other ships have sailed for Brazil with cargoes of hay. It is calculated that there are 150,000 bags of old wheat still deposited in the province of Santa Fe. Flour: 4000 bags, special class, to be deposited in the Darsena, for Brazil, at $1.40 without bags.

Some lots of new wool have arrived at the South market, but when we say new wool it must necessarily be skin wool, or wool from galpones, as it is too early in the season for the regular shearing to have begun. One lot of 6000 kilos of new wool, fine quality but very bad condition, the sheep having been so scabby they had to be shorn right off. This lot sold at 5 nats. Another lot of 5000 kilos, also called new wool, was sold at $7.50. Another lot of 11,500 kilos fine wool at $8.05, and a small lot of 500 at 7 nats Kelsey & Co. sold 1,700 kilos of lambs wool at $6 80, and 3 or 4 other lots amounting to about 3,500 kilos, from $6 to $6.50. One lot of fine new wool from Lujan, 3000 kilos, sold at $7.50, Mr. Fremery buyer. Barraqueros and consignatarios do not expect any lots of new wool in the market before another fortnight.

Yesterday Mr. Peter J. Alegre, in going from the Banco de España to the Banco de la Nacion, hardly two squares, was robbed of 15,000 dollars. People carrying so much money about them must be on their guard.

Mr. Christian Sommer took leave of his friends and sailed yesterday in the Clyde for Europe. We hear he has resigned the consulship in Hamburg. His business in this city is perhaps the largest in that line, and his white hats are so famous that we have known some of them to hold good for many years. Mr. A. S. Hall, barraquero of Rosario, and Mr. L. Hall also left in the Clyde. Mr. Hall is perhaps the only one in the country who has found a veritable gold mine in the Andes. In the winter his mine is covered with snow and very few people of the locality know much about it, but Mr. Hall has assured us that the gold is there and in immense quantities. He has brought down large samples and, we suppose, in time the mine will be worked on a great scale.

The great Peña testamentaria has been wound up and the following are the heirs: Rosario Peña de Bosch, Juan G. Pena, Isabel Peña de Udaondo, Dolores Peña de Calvo, Rafaela Peña de Vivar and Adela Peña de Udaondo, each of whom receives $751,316 m/n.

Cheques of the Provincial Bank closed at 35% discount; those of the National Bank improved one point, closing at 17% discount. Bonos of the La Plata Mortgage Bank closed at 16.30% of their face value.

Exchange ruled very firm this afternoon, and drawers find that they must now give in to the demands of takers; 48d. on London and 5.04½ francs were currently quoted, but little business was done to-day.

The gold market ruled weak at the second ring, and it looks as if the settlement will close in the midst of a falling market. Fifteen thousand ounces were sold for to-morrow; the price opened at 53 20$ and closed at 53, say 225.65% premium. Sovereigns were sold at 16.46$, say 226½% premium. The market closed heavy.

The chief feature of the afternoon was the sudden panic in Catalinas Shares. The news spread that a broker was in difficulties owing to overpurchases and the market glided down a sharp incline. Seventeen thousand shares were sold for to-morrow; the price opened at 10.70, went down to 9.80, and closed weak at 10. The stock looked tottering as the bell rang the close of the 2nd ring.

La Plata Cedulas were also slightly weaker this afternoon.

Shipping News.

Sept. 29.

The wind was from N.W to-day. The river fell all day, and at 5 p.m. showed only 17 feet depth in the channel.

ARRIVALS.

The Port Doctor had only one vessel to give free pratique to, the German steamer Lowenburg, as no other ocean vessel arrived.

DEPARTURES.

The Brit. s.s. Spencer from La Plata for San Vicente for orders, with 41,656 sacks of maize.

The Rapido for Asuncion.

The Brit. s.s Centuriou for Rosario to load.

Yesterday at 4 p.m. the Royal Mail steamer Clyde left the Dock with passengers and cargo for Southampton and intermediate ports. Although tide was fairly low, she could get out with the greatest ease, drawing 22 feet. This speaks well for the La Plata Port, and only goes to prove that what has been said about the Channel filling up is all moonshine.

ENTERED.

Rivadavia from Montevideo.
Comercio from Salto.
Cosmos from Montevideo.
Venus from Salto.
Victoria to discharge.
Lowenburg to discharge.

The Belgrano is expected to-day and also the Berlin from Bremen.

The Ceara and Heraclides for Liverpool could not leave for want of sufficient depth in the channel.

The Wicklow is still in the Roads waiting for depth to enter. She has 1700 tons of coal for Samson and Co.

The Messageries steamer La Plata arrived at Montevideo to-day with 92 passengers 1st class and 103 3rd; 2,619 bordalesas of wine and 7,241 packages of generals.

Her mails come up by river steamer and she will be here on Saturday.

The Rubens will leave La Plata to-morrow for Liverpool with 16,415 frozen carcases of sheep, 6,200 bags of maize, 24 live horses, and 1,525 bags of maize from La Plata.

The It. s s Orione left St. Vincent today for Genoa, all well.

The Portugal arrived at Bordeaux on 26th inst.

The Uruguay left Havre to-day for the Plate.

The Cordouan left Rio to-day for the Plate.

The Alfalfa left Rosario to-day for La Plata, to fill up.

The Diolibah left San Nicolas to-day for this port, to fill up.

According to numerous testimonials which we hold the extract of pure tobacco is the only infalible remedy to radically cure the scab in sheep and naturally the cheapest. As there are several trade marks like ours care must be taken to see that the extract bears the key marks, without which it is not genuine.

TO SHEEP-FARMERS!!!
THORNCLIFFE
TRADE MARK
AGARICIDE.

We the undersigned, hereby bear testimony to having witnessed the dipping trials made with the above dip on two flocks of sheep badly infected with scab, at Mr. Patricio Ham's Estancia "Santa Margarita" (Capitan Sarmiento F. C. C. A.), on the dates of May 21st and June 13th 1892.
The dip was mixed in the proportions of one part of dip to forty parts of cold water.—The Sheep and lambs alike were passed through the bath, and we noted that not one single case of poisoning occurred, nor were the sheep uneasy afterwards, proving that the dip contains no poisonous or burning properties.—At the end of June we testify to having examined these sheep and found them absolutely cured of scab with only once dipping. We noticed also that they had improved remarkably in condition and that the wool shewed no signs of discolourment. We have every confidence in recommending the "Thorncliffe Sheep Dip" as one of the safest and most effective dips that has ever come under our notice.

á nuestra clientela
Animados por el favor y la confianza que los hacendados y el publico en general dispensa a esta casa, obligandole mas vasta sfera de accion y deseando corresponder a sus exigencias, nos es grato comunicarle que desde la fecha hemos incorporado a nuestra casa de remates y comisiones las consignaciones de frutos del pais y cereales os que recibiremos a comision para vender en los mercados Central de Frutos, Constitucion y Once en las mismas condiciones que los demas consignatarios.
Semanalmente remitiremos a nuestros comitentes una revista de precios corrientes con fieles apreciaciones sobre el estado de la plaza.
Cuando los criadores o nuestros clientes lo pidan venderemos sus frutos en remate previo anuncio, lo que ofrecera la indiscutible ventaja de dar nombre y fama a los establecimientos productores, cuyos frutos con rarisimas excepciones se venden actualmente sin saberse en nuestra plaza y menos en Europa el establecimiento que los ha producido.
La venta en remate ofrece por otra parte en nuestro mercado mayores facilidades que en los del Havre, Londres y Amberes, porque aqui los compradores pueden apreciar mejor todo lo que compran, examinando el articulo sin enfardelar.
La distancia a que se encuentran nuestros mercados uno del otro y la circunstancia de hacerse los negocios simultaneamente en los tres, tiene el inconveniente de distribuir los compradores alejando la competencia, y el remate subsana esta dificultad, porque como se anuncia previamente, permite a los interesados congregarse a una hora fija en el mercado donde ha de efectuarse la venta, estimulando el exito de las operaciones la competencia de los licitadores.
Para vender frutos en remate, sera necesario que asi se nos ordene expresamente, de lo contrario venderemos a estilo de plaza.
Esperando merecer en este ramo la misma confianza que en las otras comisiones, nos es grato repetirnos sus atts. y S. S
Adolfo Bullrich y Cia.
